Spotlight on the Spider Bed

The bed set will have a pair of side tables with drawers and magazine trays below. The drawer fronts have the tree motif and the legs reflect the tree carved bed posts. Here is a photo of one as it will be and the other partially disassembled to show how they are made. You can see the mortises on the underside of the drawer cabinet, and the mortise and tenons of the stand and shelf.

The carvings for the headboard and footboard

To the right is the panel from the head board in progress showing the gate to the property and a side building they call the Dollhouse. I have been working on the rhododendron carvings on this panel. Below are the other panels all carved.

That's it for now. I hope to see you at one of the events I've listed above. And as always, if you have a great idea for something I can make for you, I'd love to hear about it.
